Committee Pulls Surprise, Names Two New Sergeants

Det. John Kirlin, a member of the police force since 1951 and a detective for the past four years, was promoted to detective sergeant in a surprise move by the police committee.

The promotion followed a plea by Police Chief Harold E. Hahn "for equal pay and equal rank for equal work" and the disclosure that Kirlin was willing to give up the detective job if he could return to uniform as a sergeant.

Chief Hahn explained that Kirlin, a World War II Marine veteran, does the same kind of work as Det. Sgt. Thomas Lawler and has the same training and background. He also pointed out that "the borough would have lost the value of that training and experience" if Kirlin had won the recent Civil Service test for promotion to sergeant.

Committee to 'Chase' Parkers Into Lot

Free parking on South street was severely limited by the police committee Tuesday night in an attempt "to chase the free-loaders off the street and into our parking lot."

The decision was forced by the unexpectedly low revenue from the recently opened 189-space municipal parking lot on South Hanover street.

The committee banned parking completely on South street west of Hanover street and limited it to two hours from Hanover street to Charlotte street—a distance of two blocks.

Committee Chairman J. Max Creswell also warned that "if that doesn't work we can always put meters on the street."

Storms Veer Away; Rains Fail to Come

Maybe Pottstown's luck has changed in the weather scheme of things.

While the Boyertown area, from Halfway House to Bally, was drenched by continuous rains from 5 a. m. to 7 a. m. Tuesday, only a few sprinkles fell here.

And by early today, the Weather Bureau in Philadelphia noted "All chance of rain has passed for the time being."

The time being is at least until early Friday, according to latest forecasts.

A FRONTAL system approaching this area was expected to drench Pottstown Tuesday and Tuesday night. Instead, (Continued on Page Eight)

Manufacturers Hear Former Teamsters Monitor

By STEPHEN ALLEN
(Mercury Staff Writer)

Sharp words were hurled at unions and at power politics which often exist between unions and management Tuesday night.

The phrases expressed the beliefs and opinions of Godfrey P. Schmidt, former monitor of the much-investigated International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Schmidt spoke at the 53d annual meeting of the Manufacturers' association of Montgomery county. Approximately 580 leaders of business and industry attended the dinner meeting at Sunnybrook ballroom.

General purpose of the meeting was to honor two leading industrialists — Roger S. (Continued on Page Twenty-one)

Small Towns Pay More To Assure Proper Health With Fulltime Officer

(Editor's Note: Does Pottstown require a fulltime health officer? The Board of Health says yes, insisting that a continuation of the parttime system "is a move backwards." The health and sanitation committee says no, insisting that "the amount of work doesn't justify a fulltime employee." Beginning today The Mercury examines the health set-up in other towns throughout the State.)

Radnor township has 21,000 residents, 40 drinking and eating establishments and a fulltime health officer who earns $8000 a year. Upper Merion township has 21,000 residents, 78 drinking and eating establishments and a fulltime health officers who earns $5600 a year.

And Pottstown has 26,000 residents, 134 eating and drinking establishments and a parttime health officer who earns $5500 a year — including his salary as plumbing inspector.

"With that many eating and drinking places in Pottstown,"

Frank Scieszser explained Tuesday, "I would say that it would take a fulltime health officer to do just that one phase of the job adequately — and doing the job adequately means more than just the four routine inspections required each year by the State."

M. BENNETT, $2.5 Million Home POULTRYMAN, DIES AT 84

Served As President Of Tri-County Association OPERATED BUSINESS IN LIMERICK

Matthew W. Bennett, former president of the Tri-county cooperative association incorporated, died Tuesday morning in the Phoenixville hospital after a long illness. The retired poultryman was 84.

Mr. Bennett, who lived at 83 West Fifth avenue, Collegeville for the past five years, was born in Norristown, the son of the late Matthew and Phoebe (Beatty) Bennett. Before reaching success in the poultry business, his colorful career included such occupations as baker, insurance salesman, machinist, trolley car operator, and shipyard worker.

Bennett went into the poultry field in 1929, establishing a business in Limerick township. At its peak the business included 3000 laying hens and a 50,000 egg hatchery. In 1932 he helped found the Tri-County Cooperative association, the organization often referred to as the

An additional 650 homes are planned within five years, he added, bringing the total number of homes contracted for to 800. The cost of construction should pass the $9 million mark.

Davidheiser, representing corporation, signed a contract in First Federal Savings and Loan association building, 21 North Hanover street, with the following parties:

Charles W. Gardner, and Paul V. Short, owners of G. and F. Realty corporation, Camden.

Crossing Guard Starts Today

A crossing guard will be on duty at Fifth and Main streets in East Greenville today, Sister Dionysia, principal of St. Philip Neri school, was promised Tuesday night.

The promise was made by Burgess Franklin Snyder and Council Secretary Paul F. Steinman during a meeting at the convent. Sister Dionysia then agreed to see that pupils would use the Fifth street intersection — rather than Sixth street where Randy Urfer, 8, was killed almost two weeks ago.

Sister Dionysia said she was "satisfied the borough officials are concerned about the crossing, but we'll have to see what happens when school opens in September. They still haven't promised a traffic light."

The crossing guard will serve until the end of the school year — next Wednesday — and the council will study the possibility of a light during the Summer.

POTTSGROVE CLASS HEARS COLLEGE HEAD

A 20th century college president disputed the words of an 18th century English poet Tuesday night and urged 88 members of Pottsgrove High school's graduating class to "catch a falling star."

Delivering the commencement address to the largest class ever graduated from the new school, Dr. D. Frederick Wertz, president of Lycoming college, Williamsport, chose as his theme the line from John Donne's poem, "Go and catch a falling star."

Dr. Wertz' address was the highlight of graduation exercises conducted in the school's auditorium, which was filled to capacity.

The program began at 8 o'clock with the graduates walking down the side aisles to the traditional strains of "Pomp and Circumstance." After the invocation by the Rev. L. Samuel Krouse, associate pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church, Vandalia, class valedictorian, delivered an address on the class motto, "Onward Ever, Backward Never."

FOLLOWING a vocal solo by Norma Jeanette Decker of Rogers and Hammerstein's "You'll Never Walk Alone," Dr. Wertz gave his talk.

"I always find the enthusiasm of high school graduates contagious," Dr. Wertz said, "and tonight I want to talk to you about the stars."

"When John Donne wrote about catching a falling star, and getting with child a mandrake root, and finding who cleft the devil's foot, he was categorizing life's impossible tasks."

"But it is the exciting story (Continued on Page Twenty-one)

Communist Voters Die Out in County

Two major weapons against communism upheld by the United States Supreme court sent county officials burrowing through old records Tuesday.

Fred Fairlie, chief clerk of the county election board turned up the fact that in 1940 Earl Browder ran for president on the communist ticket—and picked up 42 votes.

"I don't know where those 42 voters are today and I don't think I've seen or heard about a communist in this county since the party was ruled subversive in 1942."

That was the same year that Kenneth Hallman, chief clerk of the registration bureau, turned up registered communists on the county's election rolls.

"Right about then they started going underground when the witch hunts started during the war," he said. "I know there hasn't been one registered in the county since."

6 TEENAGERS HURT TAKING SHORTCUT

Car Spins, Slams Utility Pole Headon

They only wanted to take a shortcut. They didn't want to get stuck behind the school buses.

Those were the reasons 14 year old Bonnie Jean Moyer, daughter of Harvey R. Moyer, Boyertown RD 1, gave for a crash early Tuesday morning that almost claimed her life and those of her younger brother and four other teenage girls.

Injured when their 1960 sedan whipped out of control and crashed against a telephone pole 2½ miles west of Boyertown on Old Route 73 in Earl township were:

Bonnie Jean and William Moyer, children of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey R. Moyer, and Jean, Maria, Sally Ann and Sarah Renninger, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Renninger, Pottstown road, Boyertown RD 1.

Got a couple of bucks in your pocket? Keep an eye on the bucks that join them this Friday and Saturday.

Lucky Bucks days are back!

A modern saying claims if money speaks, all it ever says to most people is — goodbye. But the serious face of George Washington may "brighten" a little this weekend when serial numbers on his bills inform Pottstown residents the bills are worth more than a dollar.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love & Marriage

He Wants A Divorce — His Wife Doesn't

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

When I got married seven months ago I honestly thought I was in love, but now I know I'm not.

This is nothing against the girl I married, because she's a nice girl, but somehow what I felt for her that made me want to marry her seems to have worn off and I'm really unhappy.

I'm only 22 years old and my wife is 20 and it seems to me that we should get a divorce while we're still young enough to find the one we really love, but when I told my wife that she said she didn't agree.

We have no child on the way and I think we should separate before we have any children, but I can't make my wife see that would be the best thing, so what shall I do?

Dear T. W.:

Has the thought ever occurred to you that instead of doing just what you yourself want you might give some very careful consideration to what your wife wants?

In other words, it seems to me you have only your own selfish interests in mind and are paying no attention to the interests of the girl you persuaded to marry you.

You won't be happy, I realize, to know that I'm on your wife's side, at this time, anyhow, but it is the fact, I think it's far too early in your married life for you to be so sure the outlook is so hopeless that you should get a divorce.

Evidently you married your wife through infatuation, rather than love, which now proves to be her hard luck, with you alone to blame for not having been mature enough to know your own mind.

Altogether, I think it's up to you to spend a reasonable amount of time now sincerely putting your wife's interests ahead of your own and honestly trying to do everything you can to make her happy.

Many years ago Robert Louis Stevenson wrote: "Those who bring happiness into the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves" and truer words were never spoken. I urge you to think them over and then act on them.

I suggest, also, that you think seriously about having a child, for you might find that a baby in the home would do a very great deal to develop a family feeling in you that would help everything along.

Dear Beatrice Fairfax:

In our town we teenagers have nothing to do because there are no places to go like movie theaters, skating rinks, bowling alleys and other things that interest teenagers.

As a result of this, about all we can do is to meet on the streets and fool around or go into the soda shop and stay there, but the owner has got sick of seeing us around because he says we don't spend much money and by staying there so long we keep other customers away and keep him from making money.

What do you think can be done in a case like this?

THREE GIRLS

Dear Girls:

What I think you should do is to put your problem up to some responsible adult who would take an interest in helping you solve it.

Even though there may not be any actual entertainment spots where you can go and have fun, there surely must be some church, some school or other place that would be glad to provide space for a Youth Center where a program of activities specifically for teenagers could be set up.

Put it up to one or two of the teachers in the school you attend, picking out the ones you believe would be most sympathetic and understanding, and you'll probably get some action.

And be ready with some good ideas of your own in regard to the program.

"Outside of Republicans and Democrats and some Socialists, the only odd label I can remember her anyone running under was something called the Blue Eagle ticket back during the Roosevelt years," Boden remembered.

While Boden was the last to appear legally on the ballot, the hunt for communists continued ever since. In 1954 a former FBI undercover agent named 150 Pennsylvanians as past or present communists in the Lehigh valley.

The FBI agent, Herman E. Thomas, of Allentown, also testified in the communist infiltration plot "steel is the most basic industry." No one from the Pottstown area was named in any of the probes, however.

IN SUSTAINING a section of the Internal Security act of 1950 requiring "communist-action" organizations to register with the government and a section of the Smith act of 1940 that makes it a crime to be a member of a party advocating the violent overthrow of the government, the majority Supreme Court opinion stated:

"When existing government is menaced by a world-wide integrated movement which employs every combination of possible means, peaceful and violent, domestic and foreign, overt and clandestine, to destroy the government itself—the legislative judgment as to how that threat may best be met consistently with the safeguarding of personal liberty is not to be set aside merely because the judgment of the judges would, in the first instance, have chosen other methods."

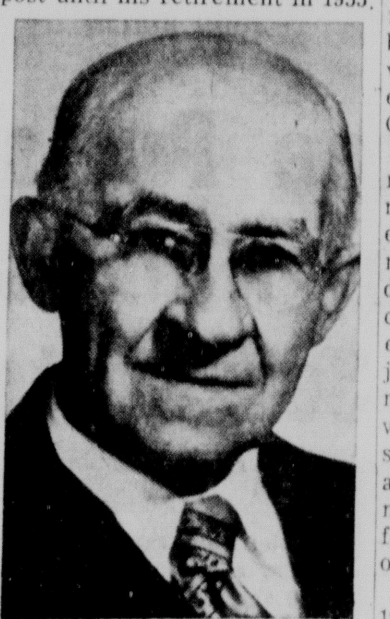

The Internal Security act of 1950 directed communist front and communist action groups be registered with the Attorney General. "Communist action groups were described as 'substantially directed' by a foreign government 'controlling the world communist movement' and communist front groups as 'substantially controlled' by communist action groups.

Amana All Others

This is the greatest statement ever made with proof by either a dealer or manufacturer — come in and let the Amana people show why Amana is guaranteed to outperform all others

Amana Fact 1

Amana reserve power and efficiency brings temperature down to 0 degree F. faster and safer than all others tested. Because Amana is engineered and designed and built to be a fine food freezer—not just a "holding cabinet" that "feels" cold.

Amana Fact 2

Amana maintains an even 0 degree temperature. Amana has 6 "fast" freezing surfaces of solid aluminum with the cold coils brazed to each. All foods are either directly in contact with, or directly below these "FAST FREEZING" Shelves. Amana reaches and maintains 0 degree F. temperature—thus protecting your frozen foods from TEMPERATURE DAMAGE.

Amana Fact 3

Amana has uniform food storage temperature—many other freezers have long running cycles which indicate lack of freezing capacity. Amana insures "locked-in" nutritional values because of the even zero degree temperature throughout.

"Even Zero Temperature Is The Key To Safe Food Preservation"

Health Comes First

WHAT'S more important—a few dollars or a few lives?
Pottstown borough council is tinkering with the lives of its citizens when it opposes a Board of Health proposal to hire a full-time health officer.

Borough hall politicians, employing the excuse of poverty to hide their desire to reward a good party worker by appointing him to a sinecure, are gambling with the public health.

The politicians want to appoint one of their constituents to a parttime job. It doesn't matter how much he knows; if he doesn't know enough, the borough may educate him. At taxpayers' cost, to be sure.
Just so he's a good party man, or a person who needs a job, or who's a nice guy.

The Board of Health wants the borough council to how to the line and to obey the laws of Pennsylvania. It wants a fulltime health officer, a qualified health officer, a professional who will give all his time and his experiences to guarding the health of the community.

So the Board of Health rejected a council committee proposal to employ a parttime man. It asked council to reconsider, in the interest of the community good, its rejection of a sane, sensible proposal.

The borough council majority voted to ask the Board of Health to try a parttime worker until the end of the year. That probably was just a stalling move, because the councilmen knew they'd have to lay out at least $1200 to train a man. After paying $1200 for his education, plus his salary while at school, council hardly would fire a man after six months.
And who would take a job for six months with no prospect but discharge?

Councilmen turned down the fulltime health officer plea because they said a proposed $5200 to $5400 a year salary would not stay there. Of course it wouldn't! A man would be foolish to take a job without chance of advancement or promise of reward. That's most important to a jobholder. There's not a man worth his salt who doesn't look forward to earning more money.

Councilmen also were told the health officer would need stenographic help, a secretary and an automobile. This was twisted.
He'd need stenographic help, naturally, because he'd want letters written. But he didn't demand a secretary. There's plenty of idle stenographic ability at borough hall today—and these same "economical" councilmen are not harnessing that talent. As for transportation—he'd use a borough car, available to all executives

There's an inclination among Pottstown's politicians to grumble about the increasing number of employees on the borough payroll.
"They're building a dynasty up there"
is the way one rabble rouser puts it.

A perspicacious politician could examine the payroll and note there are no more employees—outside of the police department—than there were in 1951—or ten years ago!

Borough hall is big business. Were councilmembers to ponder their responsibility in running a multi-million dollar investment, they probably would not be likely to favor cheap labor or to hire party men as political rewards.

Pottstown's government has $10,000,000 in assets. No such private industry, which has to show a profit, would hire "good guys who need jobs" because they are "good guys who need jobs" and stay in business long.

But this present impasse among professionals and politicians is predicated on health.
It's not one of profit.

How much does Pottstown expect of its health officer? Does it want its health guarded, with chances of epidemics decimating its population at a minimum, or does it want
a health officer to make traffic counts, roof water surveys, plumbing inspection and what not?

Does it want its water guarded, its public eating places surveyed, or does it want NO enforcement of the health laws.

Pottstown can have either at the politicians' whim. If council employs a full-time, qualified health officer it never will know how many lives are saved. It's akin to a safety program. We only know how many lives are lost. But it will be certain of professional care.

Pottstown borough council can get just what it pays for. The collapse of the food handlers inspection program, so clear in Pottstonians' minds, should be uppermost in councilmembers' minds, too, when the issue is voted.

For the sake of Pottstown's health, a qualified, fulltime health officer should be employed. Every citizen should tell his councilman health comes first—a political reward
last.

For the sake of Pottstown's health, a qualified, fulltime health officer should be employed. Every citizen should tell his councilman health comes first—a political reward
last.

There's an inclination among Pottstown's politicians to grumble about the increasing number of employees on the borough payroll.
"They're building a dynasty up there"
is the way one rabble rouser puts it.

A perspicacious politician could
examine the payroll and note there are no
more employees—outside of the police department—than there were in 1951—or
ten years ago!

Borough hall is big business. Were councilmembers to ponder their responsibility in running a multi-million dollar investment, they probably would not be likely to favor cheap
labor or to hire party men as political rewards.

Pottstown's government has $10,000,000 in assets. No such private industry, which has
to show a profit, would hire "good guys who need jobs" because they are "good guys who need jobs" and stay in business long.

But this present impasse among professionals and politicians is predicated on health.
It's not one of profit.

How much does Pottstown expect of its health officer? Does it want its health guarded, with chances of epidemics decimating its population at a minimum, or does it want
a health officer to make traffic counts, roof
water surveys, plumbing inspection and what not?

Does it want its water guarded, its public
eating places surveyed, or does it want NO
enforcement of the health laws.

Pottstown can have either at the politicians' whim. If council employs a full-time, qualified health officer it never will know how many lives are saved. It's akin to a safety program. We only know how many lives are lost. But it will be certain of professional care.

Pottstown borough council can get just what it pays for. The collapse of the food
handlers inspection program, so clear in Pottstonians' minds, should be uppermost in councilmembers' minds, too, when the issue is voted.

To the Editor: Fidel Castro has a probbad for his regime politically and economiamount of space and number of armed

The barest of maintenance will also be a drag on his already-strained economy as these people must be fed. He cannot indulge because he doesn't wish to further alienate

The only nation that would be fool enough

However willing he might be to part with

Inside Television
By EVE STARR
STARR REPORT: One of the entertainment world's few genuine light comedians, Dwayne Hickman, is already hard at work making films for the third season of "Dobie Gillis." On or off camera, Hickman, who at 27 manages to look no more than 20, is perhaps the youngest of the light comedians extant and also one of the best trained.

Hickman was born and brought up in Los Angeles and looks upon Hollywood as his home. If anything, he is perhaps unconsciously resentful of the show business aspect of his hometown. He assiduously avoids any contact with it except when he is actually working, for he never intended to be an actor. Paradoxically, he is a very good actor. He is also quite a professional actor.

Two years ago, when "Dobie Gillis" was just getting under way, there was a good deal of gossip about the feud between Hickman and Tuesday Weld, who was supposed to have been a regular on the series.

EVERYBODY thought we were supposed to be having a big romance," he says. "We weren't. My beef with Tuesday had nothing to do with romance. My beef simply was that she was forever being late on the set and didn't know her lines. She'd stay up half the night and then come in late in the morning looking tired and not able to do her best. She has a lot of talent but no discipline."

"I was the star—it was my show. There was, and still is, a tremendous responsibility riding on my shoulders. An awful lot of people were depending on me and an awful lot of money had been bet on me—$1,300,000 for that crucial first season alone.

"Tuesday had no understanding of this at all. She bugged me and she bugged everybody else. There is no question about her talent. She's got it to spare. Maybe by now she's learned something about discipline. I don't know. I haven't seen her. I hope she has. But she sure hadn't when she was working with us."

Hickman is a good deal more seriousminded than he appears to be as Dobie or as he appears approximately 75 percent of the time off camera. A good deal of Dobie has, in fact, rubbed off on him.

He knows the character inside and out and tends to talk like him because he feels it's expected of him.

"What I want to do now," he says, "is find a nice girl and get married and settle down. Trouble is, there's no time. I took a girl out the other night and brought her back home at midnight and she was insulted. I was dead tired and she was just getting started."

That's the problem every disciplined actor has—no time for anything but work when he's working.

THE BIG EYE: Robert Gist, actor turned director for the "Peter Gunn" series this past season will direct Samuel Harrison's new play, "The Bulls of Spring," to open on Broadway this Fall. Max Gordon will produce, and first tryout will open in Laconia,
N. H., July 14.

Incidentally, Hank Mancini, composer of the "Peter Gunn" background music, wrote an original called, "The Gist of It," dedicated to director Robert Gist.

Mei Allen, the "Voice of the Yankees" sportscaster is compiling a "Baseball Joke Book." Sample of the humor: The one about the rookie ball player who went out on strikes
so often the management called in the Labor Board.

Dean Martin is lining up a drama for next year, and wants luscious Tina Louise, who debuted on his last TV spec.

Darryl Hickman informed that his "The Americans" series was canceled said: "For once, both the North and the South lost!"

Capitol Records' "Stan Freberg Presents the United States" may be taking a verbal beating from the Boston Chapter of the DAR, a host of radio stations and a couple of the major networks—but they love him in jolly old England. Within two weeks of release 50,000 albums were sold there — and still orders went unfilled. The old show biz axiom about being "banned in Boston" is evidently good publicity. Maybe the English believe Stan's satirical version of the Boston Tea Party.

New Legislator Casts First Vote For Losing Cause

Five minutes after Pottstown area's Republican representative to Harrisburg was sworn in Monday, he cast his first vote for a losing cause.

Edwin G. Holl, Lansdale businessman elected two months ago to fill the unexpired term of Floyd K. Brendlinger, also of Lansdale, backed an unsuccessful move to subject approval of allocations for the General State authority to General Assembly vote.

Holl, along with other state Republicans, was outvoted 101 votes to 96.

The political newcomer's first vote was cast in support of what he termed "a very controversial amendment."

Under the amendment, the authority would depend upon assembly approval before it would be able to allocate any of the $874,900,000 it requested for the construction of public projects. The funds for this appropriation would come from "left-over" funds in the State treasury.

HOLL'S opposition to the General State authority stems from his belief the authority "spends too much money without specific authorization from the legislature."

The authority, headed by Gov. David L. Lawrence and other top State officers, services as a distribution agency for funds used to construct, equip, maintain and improve public works.

Under its auspices, many State public works projects are carried out. These range from highways and sewage plants to arsenals and swimming pools.

Money to finance the authority's projects is obtained through the sale of bonds. The principal and interest of these bonds is paid from rentals received from leases to the State and from funds appropriated from time to time by the General Assembly.

The authority up to the beginning of this year completed some 700 public projects, spending about $560 million dollars. The need for greater expenditures and a stepped up program, pointed out by Governor Lawrence, was responded to by a Democratic bill which would make the $874,900,000 available in the next fiscal year.

But the amendment, favored by Holl and other Republicans, would have stripped the authority of its right to allocate funds without first awaiting assembly approval.

Nonetheless, Holl termed the authority "a gigantic monster having a blank check to spend the taxpayers' money."

The new assemblyman was chosen by county Republican leaders to fill the term left vacant by Brendlinger after the latter stomped out of office because of disappointment at not getting a committee appointment. He was elected last month.

Other Montgomery county Republicans outvoted in the amendment move were Robert P. Johnson, Morton H. Fetterolf Jr., Mrs. Evelyn G. Henzel and Herman B. Willaredt.

Bettors Miss Payoff As Detectives Move In

A couple of Souderton horse-race bettors who Tuesday wagered their two bucks on Mr. Hyde in the first race at Delaware Park not only missed getting $25, the payoff price, but also lost their dollars.

It all happened because Charles "Chick" Moody, chief of Montgomery county detectives, led a raiding party of five in Souderton and picked up a hand-book operator.

The enforcement officers arrested Michael Munnuci, 44, as the handbook man. He was taking bets in a tap-room. The officers found $31 on him and some baseball pool tickets.

They'd watched him for several weeks before the raid.

Munnuci, who lives at 307 West Eighth street, Lansdale, was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Charles J. Gorman in Norristown and held in $500 bail for court.

Assisting Moody were Officer Paul Wolfe, of Souderton; State Troopers Harry Crane and Metro Kardash and County Detective Joseph Marlin.

Lower Providence Township dog officer was fined $20 and costs, on charges of cruelty to animals after testimony was heard from a township dog owner and a veterinarian concerning gunshot wounds suffered by a collie.

Jack Woodland, of South Trooper road, was found guilty of the charge by Magistrate J. Frederick Becker, Lower Providence, after testimony was heard from Mrs. Nancy W. N. Fuller, of Audubon road, the dog owner, and Dr. Raymond William Giuliani, of Tredyffrin Veterinary hospital.

Mrs. Fuller said her dog, a two year old blue merle collie, was shot on April 13 by Woodland, who followed the dog to her home and then took it with him, indicating he would have to kill it.

Investigation was conducted by Charles A. Renshaw, special agent of the Women's SPCA, of Philadelphia, and on April 26 the dog was returned.

Mrs. Fuller said that because of the dog's condition, and a noticeable odor, she took the pet to Dr. Giuliani.

THE VETERINARIAN said he discovered a series of puncture wounds behind the dog's left ear and signs of infection in the area. He also said he felt what he assumed were pellets under the skin. These were not removed, he said.

There were no indications that the dog had been treated for these wounds, Dr. Giuliani said, and the animal appeared to be in pain when the neck area was handled. He also said the collie's demeanor was not that of a normally healthy dog.

Woodland, testifying in his own behalf, admitted he shot at the dog after trying for some time to catch it. He said he saw blood dripping from the dog at the Fuller home but believed this was coming from a cut lip.

The dog catcher also admitted detaining the dog, and not killing it, after he learned that the SPCA was investigating. He added he did not believe there had been any wound except the lip cut.

TRIAL DATE IS SET FOR EX-SHERIFF

Samuel M. Glass Is Facing Two Charges

District Attorney Harold W. Spencer announced Tuesday that the trial of former Montgomery County Sheriff Samuel M. Glass on charges of fraudulent conversion and embezzlement was listed in Criminal court during the week of June 26.

Spencer said that he will personally handle the prosecution, assisted by Thomas E. Waters, Jr., a member of his staff.

President Judge William F. Dannehower indicated that the trial will probably be presided over by a visiting judge.

Indictments in which Glass was accused of mismanagement of public funds while in office were returned against him by the November, 1960 Grand Jury. The amount involved is approximately $16,000.

Glass served 12 years as sheriff, leaving office in 1936. His arrest came in the wake of a three-month investigation of the probatory's office by a Philadelphia accounting firm hired by the County Commissioners.

IN LEGAL language, Glass is charged with "unlawfully and feloniously" converting to his own use a total of $15,925.

The original amount involved reached $46,778, but soon after accountants began probing into the books of his former office, he gave the county a check for $35,119.

According to Spencer, the money had been held in a fund titled "Samuel M. Glass — Sheriff Account" at the Montgomery County Bank and Trust company.

Glass, through his attorney, Leonard F. Markel, contends that the fund does not contain public money, and further that the statute of limitations prohibits criminal action.

500 Apartment Project Okayed

Erection of a huge building whose two 17-story towers will have 500 apartment units was approved Monday night by Jenkintown Borough Council. A zoning classification for the area was changed to suit.

The gigantic building will rise on land that is the campus of Beaver College. It is a 10-acre tract and the R. M. Shoemaker company, of Philadelphia, has an option to buy it. Consummation of the transaction was delayed pending borough approval.

The site, bounded by West, Florence and Greenwood Aves., overlooks the Jenkintown station of the Reading Railroad company.

Under the option, and subject to purchase by the Shoemaker firm, the college has until 1963 to vacate the property. The college, meanwhile has found a new location.

Farm Statistics Cited by Chester County Agent

Joseph H. Way, assistant Chester County farm agent, pointed out that according to statistics, 11 percent of the American working people are farmers, at the Kiwanis meeting Tuesday night in the Elks home.

He also said that in the 1800s, 75 percent of the American people were engaged in farming.

Way remarked that in Russia, from 56 to 60 percent are engaged in farming and in China, 65 percent.

He also pointed out that one American farmer can raise enough to feed 24 persons, while one Russian farmer can only feed five persons.

The program was sponsored by the Agriculture and Conservation committee of which Howard Swavely is chairman. Following the regular meeting a board meeting was conducted.

Albert Leblang, president was in charge of the meeting attended by 55 members.

'Completely Clarify Your Position'

tween 1945 and 1953 and new buses will cost between $12,000 and $15,000 each.

"The equipment is worn out but there just isn't the money to replace it," Mattei explained. The last bus was purchased in 1953, he said, "when there was nothing else to put on the road."

"But the real problem is the number of diminishing riders," he added.

HE DISTRIBUTED figures showing that in 1954 the company carried 972,273 passengers over 288,990 route miles. Last year with an increase in mileage through the extension of routes the number of passengers decreased to 883,886—despite the purchase of the Murphy Bus lines and the addition of its routes in February, 1959.

Prior to the purchase the number of passengers had fallen to 728,000—a loss of 144,000 passengers yearly in four years. This year the decrease during the first five months is already more than 60,000 over a comparable period last year.

Asked whether he thought the decrease in passengers would continue "or whether a bottom has been reached," PRT Manager Guy Wells replied: "It should increase with an increase in population and the increase in congestion. It's just hard to say when this will happen."

Mattei added that "for several years the directors kept looking for this and waiting for it to happen. It just never seemed to and now the company can't wait any longer."

WELLS ADMITTED that the company had "dry runs" (runs with few or no passengers that were unprofitable) and that it hadn't asked for a fare increase since 1957, but pointed out that "when you increase the fares the number of riders seem to drop off and you're just at about the same spot in revenue as when you started."

The company received a PUC increase from 10 to 15 cents in 1959 and a school fare increase from 7 to 10 cents two years later.

Both Wells and Mattei said that school children—who made up one-third of the passengers—were one of the major factors in the company's poor financial state.

The school buses, Wells explained, operate two hours a day—an hour in the morning and an hour in the afternoon—and bring in about $8—of which $4 is salaries for the drivers.

"No wonder you can't make money," Borough Manager Robert H. McKinney noted.

WELLS SAID the company has six buses that "carry school children two hours a day and aren't used the rest of the day. They certainly can't make a profit."

Asked why school runs weren't ended, Mattei replied, "We'd have a thousand screaming parents on our necks if we discontinued the school runs."

"You'll have 77,000 screaming people on your necks if you try and end the operations completely," Pollock noted, pointing out that the buses were used by that many people in an average month.

Pollock also asked whether it would be profitable for the company to end dead runs and increase fares. Wells replied: "I guess it's possible."

A short while later Democratic Party Chairman Joseph A. Suchoza returned to the subject of retrenchment, asking whether the High street line which carried 75 percent of all the passengers "would be profitable if operated alone."

This time Wells replied: "I think so. Yes."

Among the dry runs mentioned "that might be profitably cut back" were the runs to Boyertown and Sanatoga.

POLLOCK SAID that he didn't feel the cutback of service—or limiting to high street and North Charlotte street—would appreciably affect business.

"But this is a community problem and the entire effect—to schools and industry and the riders—must be studied. And to drop the system would definitely be an injustice to everyone concerned," he added.

Appointed to the committee to meet with the PRT directors was A. Ralph Thomas, who suggested the idea; Councilman Charles Shaner; chairman of the parking committee; and Ray M. Bush, employment manager at Dana corporation.

Attending the meeting were Borough Manager Robert H. McKinney Jr.; Burgess John B. Hartenstine Jr.; Linford Moyer, business manager of the Pottstown school district; Pollock; Thomas; the Rev. Richard S. Hoffer, pastor of Grace Lutheran church; Shaner; Mattei; Joseph A. Suchoza, chairman of the Democratic party; Assistant Borough Solicitor Ronald H. Reynier; Bush; Charles Reininger, of the United Rubber Workers local 336, and his wife; Assistant Borough Manager Samuel Kissinger; and Wells.

Committee Pulls

the list for patrolmen were appointed.

For Kirlin and Meyers, a member of the force since 1934, the promotions also mean an increase in salary from $4810 a year to $5530. Both promotions become effective July 1.

THE TWO MEN appointed patrolmen, to fill out the vacancies that will occur when the force swings from a 48 to a 42 hour week in July, were: Everett B. Lamme, 25, of 319 Oak street; Richard A. Mann, 28, of 51 High street.

Lamme, who topped the list with a score of 86½, and Mann, with a score of 84, are both husky Korean War veterans who stand over 6 feet tall.

They will be appointed to the force "as soon after July 1" as they can be fitted with uniforms. They will be on a six month probationary period at a salary of $4310 before being given permanent status and a $500 increase in salary.

The opening for sergeant and two patrolmen was created when borough council approved a 42 hour work week and the creation of a fourth shift which Meyers will head. He lives at 929 Hale street.

There were 13 candidates for patrolmen and seven for promotion from patrolman to sergeant. Behind Meyers were Patrolman Richard Placido, Motor Patrolman Daniel Kegel, Patrolman Robert Corrigan, Kirlin, Motor Patrolman William B. McCann, Desk Sgt. Lynwood Yousse, Motor Patrolman Lorin Leuthold and Motor Patrolman James H. Corum.

HURT IN FALL

Mrs. Anna Mae Boyer, 105 Berks street, Stowe, was treated at Memorial hospital Tuesday for a fracture of the right foot. The woman injured herself when she fell down two steps at her home. She was released after treatment.

Storms Veer Away; Rains Fail to Come

it was mostly sunny, with a high of 86—the second warmest day this year.

The severe thunderstorms, hail and 50 mile per hour wind gusts which failed to materialize, will leave behind some effects, however.

A new high pressure area covering this region will drop temperatures down to a comfortable 65 this morning, followed by a high near 80 this afternoon.

It will be mostly fair today, tonight and tomorrow, with a low of about 60 tonight and a high of about 80 again tomorrow.

Now you can't beat that for luck, can you?

Modern Manners

By CAROLYN HAGNER SHAW

Author of "Modern Manners — Etiquette for All Occasions"

DON'T BE A NEIGHBORHOOD PEST

The irate lady who wrote me the following letter, has some excellent questions regarding correct behavior and thoughtfulness for your next-door neighbor. I'll break it down to the questions themselves, as she gave them. The indented answers are mine.

Why is it that people are so thoughtless when it comes to cooking on outdoor grilles?

Due to the fact that windows are open during this time of year, it is a very unkind neighbor who does not place his grille in such a position that the smoke will not blow into the house of the person next door. Nothing is more unpleasant than to spend an evening being smoked out of your own home! Those responsible for this would undoubtedly be the first ones to squawk if you returned in kind!

When you make every effort to keep the grounds around the house in nice condition — by keeping the grass cut, the flowers weeded, etc.—it is very upsetting to have the next-door neighbor neglect the appearance of his place. What to do to make him clean up?

The only recourse here is to be perfectly frank. Ask the careless neighbor to please join in with the rest of you in making his place presentable. Litterbugs are always with us, and some folks just don't seem to recognize how unsightly tall grass, broken toys and open garbage pails can be. Be courteous but firm, in your request. If you are tactful, maybe you can shame the guilty one into doing something.

How can you ask those who are guilty of any of the following bad habits, to desist? The one who runs his electric mower at 7 o'clock on a Sunday morning; those who allow their active, noisy children to run loose in the yard at the same hour; those who turn their TV sets, radios and his to top volume at all hours of the day or night; the departing guests who leave at one o'clock in the morning with shrieked good-byes and loud talk and honking of horns.

As I said in answer to the last question, be frank and discuss any of the above actions with the wrongdoer. Just be sure that you, yourself, are never guilty of acting likewise! When people live side by side, thoughtfulness is a must between neighbors, or life will become miserable for all concerned. Manners, based on consideration for others, is very important here.

QUESTION . . . You have answered this question before, but I still am clumsy and in doubt about what to do. Please give your ideas again. When you sit down at the dinner table in the home of friends and you are confronted by a folded linen napkin, placed between your knife and fork on the table, what do you do with it?

ANSWER . . . As soon as you sit down, unfold the napkin and place it in your lap. At the end of the meal, fold the napkin over once (do not fold it back to its original shape) and place it to the left of your plate.

attention and alert our branches to the potential danger of this illegal traffic in fireworks.

"Thank you again for the excellent presentation in your newspaper in alerting the public."

A SIMILAR letter was also sent to Kirby who received a personal "call of thanks and appreciation" from Miss Ulshafer. The distribution of the firecrackers in the area was so wide-spread before The Mercury's series of articles that schools in Phoenixville, Birdsboro and Pottstown issued special warnings against their use and a dozen pupils were each suspended one day at Boyertown Junior High school.

Immediately after their discovery in Pottstown, Kirby and Motor Patrolman Lorin Leuthold made a store by store check of the borough. Only one store was found to be selling the firecrackers.

Board Hires Two Teachers

The Upper Salford township school board officially filled the instruction staff of the Salford-Upper Salford Elementary school by hiring two new teachers for the 1961-1962 term.

They are Janet Hammer-schmidt, of Telford, who will teach music; and Loretta Shontz, Perkiomenville RD 1, who will teach Fifth grade.

The school calendar adopted for the coming term will begin September 6 and end June 6, 1962, barring make-up days due to bad weather. Snow days the past winter will delay the end of this term until next Monday. Originally, tomorrow was set as the last school day.

The board was informed that all preliminary legal work is complete on a bond issue which will finance the construction of a four classroom addition to the Salford-Upper Salford building.

The entire board was present at the Monday night meeting in the school, with Harvey Cronrath, president, presiding.

chorus of cats that are keeping residents awake at night. Both Sciesser and Steele have had their share of both kinds—and the hundreds of others that "somehow or other fall into our lap."

SCIESSER ADMITS that he's "pretty lucky. I only have eight or ten a month. But what most people don't realize is that it may take four or five trips before the nuisance is abated."

He works a 40 hour week—but admits that "the week often isn't long enough. I'd say that some weeks I put in as many as 60 hours and the average must be close to 50 hours a week."

"And I know that Abington is bigger than Pottstown—it has 58,000 population—but there they have two full-time health officers—one who makes $6900 and an assistant who makes $5000," he added. "So there's no reason why Pottstown shouldn't have at least one fulltime employee."

Charles Curley takes the same view—and he has almost twice as many eating and drinking establishments and food markets as Sciesser to police in Dublin township.

"There is absolutely no doubt in my mind that a town the size of Pottstown requires a fulltime employee. I know from what we do here with only about 80 eating and drinking places what it is to keep on top of things," Curley explained, adding:

"Of course the job could be done by a parttime man. It could also be done by the State and have the job abolished completely. But the question is a simple one: How much health protection do the people of your town want?"

"If they don't want any, then drop the job completely and let the State come in when there's an emergency. That's if the county employees can be found when they're needed. And if you only want a half a job done, then only get a parttime man."

CURLEY ACCEPTED the position 13 years ago. He's attended most of the State Health department and university seminars on public health since then—at the township's expense—and his superiors say he does

County Organization Is Explained to GOP

The structure of the county Republican organization was explained to members of the North Coventry Republican club Tuesday night at a meeting of the club in the community building, Kenilworth.

The explanation was presented by C. Gilbert Hazlett, county Republican chairman.

William S. Hellyer, president of the club, announced the club would dispense with meetings during July and August.

"a fine job." He now makes $8000 a year and the plumbing inspector—who serves as his assistant—makes $6000 a year.

"And you say Steele only gets $5500 for both jobs," he said. "The borough should either be ashamed of itself or feel lucky it's getting any health protection at all."

"I know that in a town this size—with 21,000 people and a lot less inspections required—I have a hard time finding enough time to do all the work—and I usually put in about 50 hours a week," he concluded.

3 Are Cleared In Traffic Deaths

James C. Edwards, Reading, was cleared of criminal negligence Tuesday in the death of a Pottstown man at an inquest before Montgomery County Coroner Dr. John C. Simpson.

Edwards was the driver of a truck involved in a fatal accident with a motorcycle driven by Frank Glanski Jr., April 12.

Also cleared of criminal negligence were: Lester Myers, 433 East Main street, East Greenville, and Walter Dillicker, 280 Mervine street.

Myers was the operator of a truck that fatally injured 9 year old Robert Isett, 23 Adams avenue, Warminster, March 25. He was pronounced dead of a fractured skull on arrival at Abington Memorial hospital. According to Warminster township police, the boy darted in front of the truck.

ANGELO LOCHETTO, Ambler, died in North Penn hospital, May 5, from head injuries received March 16 when his compact car ran out of control in Lower Gwynedd township. After leaping across the concrete divider line on four-lane Route 202, police said the vehicle slammed into the side of an oil truck driven by Dillicker.

Glanski died under similar circumstances. His motorcycle crashed head on into Edwards truck as the latter was waiting to make a left turn at Charlotte and King streets. Glanski died of a crushed chest at Pottstown hospital.

Inside You And Yours
By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.
Dear Doctor . . .

DEAR DOCTOR: For four or five months my intestines have been stopping up for three days and flowing like water on the fourth.

Could this be cancer?

Mrs. S. H.

Dear Mrs. H.: Any sudden change in bowel habits might mean cancer. Your intestines have to be proven innocent. This policy worries a lot of healthy people, but it also saves many a possible cancer victim.

See your doctor at once.

Only he can fight your cancer worries!

"Brain Waves" Gone?

Dear Doctor: I remember having brain waves, but I don't seem to have them any more.

What's happened? I feel quite confused!

Mrs. M. C.

Dear Mrs. C.: You can stop worrying! No one feels brain waves. They're tiny electrical currents that can be measured only with a special super-sensitive machine.

Perhaps you mean brain storms. Most minds calm with age!

Long-Lasting Allment

Dear Doctor: Two months ago I came down with infectious mononucleosis (glandular fever). I feel cured, but my lymph nodes (glands) are still swollen.

Is this serious?

Mrs. K. R.

Dear Mrs. R.: Swollen glands may bulge for weeks or months after you've recovered. A swollen lymph spleen — an enormous "lymph node" in the upper left corner of the abdomen — can cause trouble.

Ask your doctor when he examines you. That completely cured idea can go up in smoke if smoldering infectious mononucleosis suddenly flares up again!

Softening Toe Nails

Dear Doctor: How can I soften my toe nails to make them easy to cut?

Mrs. P. B.

Dear Mrs. B.: Warm water works well. A 10 or 15-minute soak should do fine. A hot bath relaxes you, softens nails and steadies nerves before the trim.

Clean under each nail with an orangewood stick. Then trim straight across, flush with the end of the toe, to avoid ingrown trouble.

Cause Of Shingles

Dear Doctor: What causes shingles? Do they appear on only one part of the body? Can you get it more than once?

Mr. H. S.

Dear Mr. S.: The shingles virus infects nerves. Along each branch of the infected nerve, painful blisters break out and overlap each other like shingles. The virus can strike anywhere, but it rarely attacks two distant areas.

The immunity after one attack should wall you off from future shingles.

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of The Mercury.

Wall Street News and Views Possibility of Inflation Seen
Background for Bull Market

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street brokers detect indications that the possibility of inflation may start the stock market on another climb.

Kenneth Ward, analyst for Hayden, Stone & Co., points out that investors are becoming increasingly aware of what they think are inflationary implications of the news from Washington and that business recovery is gradually expanding toward more of the relatively backward areas of the economy.

Despite the hesitating action of the current market, he says, this seems to provide a rather solid background to the market and any further near-term reaction should be quite moderate in scope and depth.

Joseph E. Granville of E. F. Hutton & Co. comments that inflationary psychology is expected again to play an important role in the expected advance.

Past performance, he notes, shows that the market has a very bullish sensitivity to government deficits. He says the trend for such deficits is on the upswing.

Granville says the market appears to be in a very temporary trough of indecision but the basic contours remain bullish.

A. M. Kidder & Co. observes that the summit talks have come and gone without effecting a material change in the status quo, but perhaps have accomplished a moderate improvement.

"However," the brokerage firm adds, "most observers seem to believe there will be a rip-roaring crisis over Berlin sooner or later. There is some concern that turbulent conditions in the Dominican Republic ultimately will land that country in the Castro camp."

"Stock market action over the next month or two seems much more likely to be dominated by favorable business, monetary and technical conditions than by the international situation. We expect the upward trend will be resumed before too long, although perhaps more irregularly than in the case of previous advances this year."

The Alexander Hamilton Institute, an investment advisory service, calls attention to a new industry in the making—air pollution control.

It reports that 106 cities in 15 states have full-time administrative staffs organizing antimog programs, and calls this only a start in a nation with 6,000 communities known to have contaminated atmospheres.

While the big market yet to be opened will be for equipment to control auto-exhaust fumes, existing markets for antimog and smoke-abatement devices include the steel, chemical, oil refining and gas and electric utilities industries.

It is obvious that air pollution control equipment, as an industry, has a future of great proportions, the institute concludes.

Coast Guard Seeks To Cheer Dying Girl

NEW YORK (AP)—The case of a little girl dying in Southern Rhodesia touched the heart of the U.S. Coast Guard—and it's doing what it can to cheer her up.

The service's Rescue Coordination Center radioed a request to all Coast Guard ships and stations, asking personnel to send greetings and good wishes to Sandra Watson, Post Office Box 2071, Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia.

A spokesman explained that the Coast Guard had picked up information from its foreign weather circuit that Sandra, 7, is suffering from leukemia and is expected to live only two months.

"We thought it might make her happy to hear from some Americans," the spokesman said.

Spring-Ford High School Within Police Authority

Royersford police have authority to act at Spring-Ford Senior High school, which is located just beyond the borough limits.

That was the feeling expressed at the monthly meeting of Royersford borough council Monday night, after the matter was brought up by Burgess George W. Lee.

An opinion was voiced by the borough solicitor, Warren Y. Francis, who said the borough police have a right to go there not only because they can chase a fugitive anywhere, but moreover, Spring-Ford High school is a part of Spring-Ford joint school district, and Royersford, has a share in the jointure, which means it is a part of Royersford.

The burgess brought up the matter of the high school as part of his monthly report near the close of the meeting. He also recommended a stop sign at the intersection of Seventh avenue and Church street, explaining that:

A bad bump at the intersection provides a handicap for cars on the avenue crossing Church street. This becomes more acute when a car moves too fast. In one instance, he said he had received a report that a car crossed the intersection so fast that the driver momentarily lost control and almost crashed into a building used by a quail club on the northwest corner.

BURGESS LEE also felt a stop sign is needed on Arch

Profit Taking Brings Losses To Some Stocks

NEW YORK (P)—Steels were losers Tuesday in an irregular stock market. Trading was moderately active.

Among individual stocks, losers exceeded gainers by more than 200 but some of the market averages registered gains, thanks to selective strength among pivotal issues.

Profit taking on Monday's vigorous advance brought sharp losses to some stocks.

Steels were unsettled by news that steel production had dropped last week, its first week-to-week decline since mid-March. It looked as if the traditional Summer steel industry lull were beginning.

Volume of 4.25 million shares was close to Monday's 4.15 million.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced .36 to 703.79.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .40 to 252.50, just a shade beneath its historic high. Industrials were off .20, rails gained .40 and utilities rose .60.

The more comprehensive 500-stock index of Standard & Poor's, however, fell 19 to 66.89.

The drop in this yardstick was borne out by the fact that, of 1294 issues traded, 628 declined and 425 advanced, a sizable difference. New highs for the year totaled 75 and new lows 18.

The emphasis on the selling end was highlighted by the list of 15 most active stocks, of which 11 declined and only four advanced.

American Viscose, the most active gainer of the past two sessions, again was the most active stock, but it fell 2 1/2 to 58 1/2 on 168,500 shares. Second was Raytheon, up 1/4 at 40 1/4 on 63,700 shares. Third was Avco, up 1/4 at 20 1/4, on 62,600 shares.

Brunswick, despite expectations of higher sales, dropped a point in active dealings.

Standard Oil of California advanced 2 1/4 to 54 1/4 following Justice department approval of its merger with Standard Oil of Kentucky.

Zenith fell 8 1/4 following Monday's rise of 10 1/4. Texas Instruments lost 5. Kennecott 1 1/4, U. S. Steel 1 1/4, Jones & Laughlin 1 1/4, Radio Corp. 1 1/4 and Johns-Manville 1 1/4.

Woolworth advanced 2 1/4, Westinghouse Electric 1 1/4, DuPont 1 1/4.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed. Volume of 1.9 million shares was about the same as Monday.

Your Horoscope

The Stars Say—by ESTRELLITA

For Today

BE PRACTICAL in planning this day's schedule. Don't undertake more than you can reasonably handle but don't procrastinate with essentials, either. Be careful in finances, too. A tendency toward extravagance prevails.

For The Birthday

If today is your birthday, you have just entered a favorable cycle for furthering job and financial goals, and you would be well justified in making plans for expansion throughout 1961 and 1962. Keep your objectives in sight and make the best use of your skills. One word of admonition, however: in dealings with others, be tactful. Don't antagonize those who could be helpful.

Financial affairs should be on the upgrade as of this month but, in this connection, do avoid extravagance in September and next November. Creative matters will be under fine stimuli between now and October, and mid-year will be fine for travel and romance.

A child born on this day will be trustworthy, energetic and extremely determined in the pursuit of goals.

INTERSECTION SIGNAL GETS APPROVAL

Traffic Light
Set On Routes 73,
113

Installation of a traffic light at the Skippack pike and Bridge road intersection, Skippack township, was authorized by the State Highway department Tuesday.

Department Secretary Park H. Martin made the authorization, the result of a request submitted to the department by township supervisors last August.

The scene of numerous traffic mishaps in the past three years, the intersection is the juncture of State Routes 113 and 73.

Ralph Johnson, one of the township supervisors, said the need for a suitable traffic control at the intersection was in long demand. "The problem was studied by the supervisors for a long while," Johnson said, "and last August we made a request to the State for permission to install the light. I don't know exactly when the light will be installed."

THE PROPOSED traffic light was described in the department release as "an actuated traffic signal control which will be capable of providing for one all red period and two phase timing cycles with the following intervals:

"Skippack Pike shall receive a minimum green interval of 28 seconds with a three second amber clearance interval and a two second all red interval. Bridge road when actuated by the normal running detector shall receive a five second initial plus four second vehicle interval with additional time extension to provide a total or maximum green interval of 14 seconds followed by a three second amber clearance interval. Similar signal indications are to be provided when actuated by pedestrian push buttons."

Permission for the installation of the new light was welcome news for two corner residents at the intersection.

Mrs. Harry Kratz, who lives on the north west corner of the intersection, said: "We've lived here for four and a half years, and there have been quite a few small accidents. And I know before we came here, there were one or two serious accidents. I think many of the accidents are caused because people don't see the stop sign on route 113. There are a lot of signs there and it's difficult to see the stop sign."

On the south east corner is a service station operated by Stephen Feher. Mrs. Feher greeted the news of the new traffic light with the comment: "I'm tickled pink. Maybe now people won't go whizzing through the stop sign."

"I remember a serious accident we had last July. I was pumping gas and a car ran through the stop sign. I never saw a car take off like that one did. I was really shook up."

ADDIS ABBABA, Ethiopia (AP)—A six-day series of earthquakes wrecked all the houses in the town of Kara-Kore, 90 miles north of Addis Ababa, according to reports reaching here.

Schweiker Raps Cuban 'Fiasco'; Warns Against Advances by Communists

YOUR CONGRESSMAN—
DICK SCHWEIKER

Reports from Washington
WASHINGTON — With the recent assassination of Dictator Rafael Trujillo of the Dominican Republic, the Caribbean once again becomes a boiling pot in which the forces of freedom and communism are struggling for survival.

At this writing, it is difficult to foretell what the after-effects of Trujillo's assassination will mean in term of this struggle. However, America cannot afford to sit back and watch yet another country mushroom into a full-fledged communist satellite only a few miles from our shores.

A short time ago, we were watching the aftermath of the ill-fated Cuban invasion. Now, it is possible to piece together some of the factors that contributed to the Cuban fiasco. Well-informed sources tell us the most important single factor contributing to the Cuban debacle was the unwillingness on the part of the United States to grant air support to the Cuban freedom fighters.

DURING THE first day of operations, a very high percent of the initial 1500 Cubans succeeded in landing ashore. At first, no stiff opposition by Castro in terms of tanks or armored units was encountered. However, the radio broadcasting equipment, the tanks, and the armored units of the free Cubans were still on the landing craft waiting to unload.

At this point, half a dozen jet trainers were put into the battle by Fidel Castro. These jet trainers were originally supplied to Castro by the United States.

The jet trainers began to attack the landing craft and other equipment. A call went out from the free Cubans for air support from a United States aircraft carrier that was only 10 miles offshore.

For some unexplained reason, air support was denied the free Cubans at this critical juncture in the landing. As a result, the jet trainers sunk the radio broadcasting equipment and most of the other landing craft which contained tanks and armored equipment.

Then Castro's tanks began to enter the picture. Because the free Cubans had no air support, his tanks wiped out a large group of the men who had gotten ashore but who did not have the necessary armored equipment to establish their beachhead. Once again, air support could have prevented Castro's tanks from decimating the landing force.

THE HARD part to understand is why our air support was not given. Aircraft on our carrier contained sidewinder missiles which could easily have knocked Castro's jet trainers out of the air and turned defeat into success.

It is a well-known fact that the United States not only trained and supplied the free Cubans but also spent about $50 million dollars on the operation. Having gone nine-tenths of the way, why did we stop so short of victory? This is the question many Congressmen are asking.

Invasion plans called for a second beachhead once the initial beachhead was established. Then Radio Free Cuba would have been set up which could have called for a general uprising to overthrow Castro. Experts say this could have succeeded if the first and second beachheads had been established.

The wisdom of the United States in supporting and supplying such a landing operation can certainly be questioned and good arguments can be advanced on both sides of this issue. However, the most important question to me is: why did we stop just short of success?

When President Eisenhower sent the Marines to Lebanon, he was prepared to back them up with whatever force the military situation required. We did not do this in Cuba. In my opinion, if we were not prepared to go all the way with air support, we should never have undertaken the operation in the first place.

Equally disheartening is the present situation in Laos. Over one-half of the country has been already overrun by the communists, and there is still no reason to expect that the President's program of "neutralism" has any real chance of succeeding.

Continued military operations by the communist-led Pathet Lao have made the present "cease fire" a mockery. The fact that two communist leaders are representing Laos at the Geneva Conference, compared to one representing free Laos, is also ironic and no basis for just negotiations.

U.S. GENERAL Walter Bedell Smith has said "diplomacy has rarely been able to gain at the conference table what cannot be gained or held on the battle field." This certainly explains the situation in Laos and why our efforts are not likely to succeed.

President Kennedy has said that we will not permit Laos to go Communist. Yet,

In my opinion, that is exactly what is happening.

Every time our Government sits down to negotiate world problems with the Communists, many people forget the very principles which the Communists have continually espoused. Some people think that the Communists will change or soften their over-all objective of world domination if we only sit down and talk with them.

I am not opposed to meetings and discussions with the Communists, as I feel we must make every effort to show the world that we are honestly and sincerely seeking a world peace with justice.

However, at Geneva and summit meetings, we should remember the obscure words of Joseph Stalin when he said, "A diplomat's words must have no relations to action—otherwise what kind of diplomacy is it? Words are one thing, actions another. Good words are a mask for the concealment of bad deeds. Sincere diplomacy is no more possible than dry water or iron wood."

We are also naive if we don't remember Nikita

Khrushchev's words when he said, "Anyone who thinks we have forsaken Marxism-Leninism deceives himself. This won't happen until shrimps learn to whistle." Here, is Khrushchev's declaration that the Communists will never give up their determination to conquer the world.

Even if we were successful in establishing a so-called "neutralist government," impartial observers admit that the "neutralist Premier" Prince Souvanna Phouma, actually leans toward the communists. Under such conditions, it is only a matter of time until the communists would dominate that "neutralist government" and Laos would become the next country to go behind the Iron Curtain.

Sometime soon, I hope our country will realize that the only way to stop communist aggression is to draw a firm line at the right place, proclaim our position to the world, and stand behind it! This is the only sure way to stop communist imperialism and maintain a world peace with justice.

Warwick Board Okays Budget

The Warwick township school board's 1961-1962 budget of $166,485 represents a $5000 over costs for the present year.

The real estate millage was set at 35 mills, a reduction of 20 mills from the present rate—as a result of countywide reassessments affected in Chester county. The $12 per capita tax and 1 percent real estate transfer tax remain the same.

SUPREME LAW IS INVOKED IN SOUTH KOREA

Military Council Takes Total Power

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Hopes for an early return to civilian government in South Korea skidded with the proclamation Tuesday of a harsh new supreme law superseding much of the Constitution. A long period of absolute military rule appears likely.

The new 23-article "Extraordinary Law on National Reconstruction" conferred a virtual blank check on the Supreme Military Council of 32 colonels and generals who seized power from John M. Chang's elected government May 16.

It allows Lt. Gen. Chang Do-yung, 38, to retain the two offices of Supreme Council chairman and the lesser job of premier. The young soldier-ruler dropped his other posts of defense minister and army chief of staff.

The new law declares that the council will hold both executive and lawmaking powers until such time as the "tasks of the May 16 military revolution are fulfilled" — whereupon general elections for a new National Assembly will be called.

Although the new law canceled several constitutional guarantees, it pointedly avoided saying the old Constitution had been suspended. This was to maintain constitutional continuity, since formal suspension might complicate the government's legal position.

The Supreme Council was given power to enact retroactive laws and create revolutionary courts and prosecutors to punish "anti-state, antination or counter-revolutionary activities" before or after the coup.

It retains majority rule at one level — inside the Supreme Council itself, which the law says must be composed of military officers on active duty who uphold the revolution.

FRANCE SELLS BARLEY

PARIS (AP) — The Ministry of Agriculture said Tuesday that food-short Communist China is buying barley from France. Contracts have been drawn for 132,276,000 pounds of barley. More sales are expected, a spokesman said.

Agree to Keep In Touch

President John F. Kennedy shakes hands with Premier Khrushchev as he leaves the Soviet Embassy in Vienna, Austria. They made a parting agreement "to maintain contact" on all questions of interest to the two countries.

Senators Foresee Grim, Tense Times

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's report Tuesday night on his trip to Europe was viewed somberly by members of Congress as a challenge to the nation.

"The difficult and grim times which confront our country will call for patience and determination on the part of all of us," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana.

Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said Kennedy's report of his meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev indicates "our relations with Russia are very serious and we should not minimize the difficulties we will face in the coming months."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the assistant Democratic leader, said: "We must be prepared for a long and continuing period of tension, uncertainty and danger."

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said: "I think he stated clearly

President Reports Khrushchev Talks Were Useful, But Not Spectacular

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy told his fellow Americans Tuesday night that his conference with Soviet Premier Khrushchev was immensely useful but that there was "no advantage or concession gained or given."

"No spectacular progress was either achieved or pretended," Kennedy declared.

The Soviet Premier, he said, had talked of an eventual, peaceful Communist conquest, but "generally, Mr. Khrushchev did not talk in terms of war."

The Soviet leader, Kennedy said, did strike a serious blow at hopes for an agreement banning nuclear weapons tests by insisting on a Soviet veto over inspections.

On Laos Kennedy was more optimistic. He saw some grounds for hopes of settling the issues in that small, Asiatic country because both sides say they want a neutral Laos and a cease-fire that works.

The chief executive returned Tuesday morning from a six-day, 9,000-mile trip that produced, in Vienna, his first encounter with Khrushchev. He also conferred with President Charles de Gaulle of France in Paris and with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain in London.

"I will tell you now that it was a very sober two days," Kennedy said of his Vienna talks with the Soviet leader.

"There was no discourtesy, no loss of tempers, no threats or ultimatums by either side," He went on:

"No advantage or concession either gained or given. No major decisions were either planned or taken, no spectacular progress was either achieved or pretended. This kind of informal exchange may not be as exciting as a full fledged summer meeting with a fixed agenda and a large crops of advisors where negotiations are attempted and a new agreement sought."

But this was not intended to be and was not such a meeting. Kennedy opened his broadcast by saying he wanted to report in full on his trip. He expressed gratitude for the warmth of the greetings both he and Mrs. Kennedy had received in the cities they visited. But he said he was certain the shouts and enthusiasm were for the country they represented as a symbol of freedom.

U.S. Is Accused Of Blocking Canadian Grain

OTTAWA (AP) — A Montreal shipping agent Tuesday accused the United States of blocking shipments of Canadian wheat sold to Red China, and Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker plans to make an issue of it in Parliament Wednesday.

The issue is the U.S. Treasury Department's refusal to allow Canadian ships to buy U.S.-manufactured suction grain-unloading equipment needed to put the nearly half billion dollars worth of grain ashore in Red China.

Cabinet ministers declined comment, but sources close to the Canadian government said Diefenbaker is expected to take a most serious view of the U.S. stand.

Diefenbaker will go to Parliament to make the statement after continuing talks among top officials in agriculture, trade and foreign affairs.

"He will have quite a story to tell," an informant said.

He said the government had learned about the situation late Monday and has been working without success to change the U.S. stand.

In Washington, a Treasury official said the shipments of equipment had been blocked because the gear was to be installed on ships chartered by Red China.

William H. Moore, general manager of the Robert Reford Co. Ltd., said the Treasury officially had blocked the shipments by ordering the Dunbar-Kattle Co. of Batavia, Ill., not to export to Canada vital equipment needed to unload bulk grain in China. He termed the situation "absolutely disgraceful."

International Plot Is Now Charged in Killing of Trujillo

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Government sources reported Tuesday the assassination of Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo, a revolution, He voiced regret that retired Brig. Gen. Juan Tomas Diaz, accused ringleader in the assassination, had not been taken alive for questioning.

An added note of mystery was injected into the situation by the young doctor who claimed Diaz and three accomplices had terrorized the doctor's household in giving the assassins refuge for four days before Diaz and an accomplice went out foraging for food Sunday night and met death in a gun battle.

Cabral had told authorities that Diaz and his accomplices, had forced their way into his home after the assassination and kept him, his pregnant wife and an infant son hostage until they left the house Sunday to seek food and cigarettes.

Police intercepted them, Diaz and one accomplice were machine-gunned to death. The other two were arrested shortly afterward. Three others are sought.

The government's new report of an international conspiracy and the reported suicide attempt contradicted previous claims and indications.

1. The assassination of the dictator a week ago had been diagnosed as nonpolitical, arising only from a grudge.
2. The young doctor had been presumed an innocent victim of the assassins.

The water, the first from the government's eight planned plants, was tested extensively by city and state health officials prior to its use.

"The water passed all health requirements," said City Manager Bill Blackwell in making the announcement Monday.

PETTICOAT CHATTER

BY DOROTHY SIMONS

THERE'S no point in buying something new to wear unless it has an unmistakable look of fashion, 1961! This is not to imply that your new style should be extreme, although it can be if you wish. There are certain touches that mark the fashions of the moment, such as the flair of a skirt, the use of ball fringe, the plain neckline, the dropped waistline, or the use of color. If you are shopping for fashions and see only clothes which could belong to almost any season, it's time you make a change in your shopping habits! Find really advanced fashions that follow trends set by the great designers at Pottstown's new HOLLAND MORITZ, 524 High street. This is a complete house of fashion, (formerly the popular Bride Shop), and now includes sportswear, lingerie, accessories, jewelry, cocktail and formal wear, tailored dresses as well as dresses for the bride and bridesmaids. "Holland-Moritz" is a very special look that is as individual as you! Their collection boasts the finest names in fashion—but only certain carefully selected styles from any fashion house! It must be unusually beautiful and original, it must be extremely good value before it is chosen by Holland-Moritz. Their collections are exclusive but not expensive, a dress may cost as little as $17.95 or more than a hundred—regardless of price it will be an excellent fashion investment in good looks! Holland-Moritz is a lovely shop, beautifully decorated and designed to be comfortable as well as attractive so that your every shopping moment is pleasant. The friendly sales personnel are eager to help you if you wish, just as happy to disappear if you prefer to "browse." They never try to "sell"—it just isn't necessary with Holland-Moritz fashions! (The Bride Shop attained a wonderful fame for telling women quite frankly when a dress did NOT flatter her individual figure!) Whether you are shopping for a complete trousseau or you wish to add just an item or two to your wardrobe, for fashion excitement shop at Holland-Moritz! Visit the Casual Shop, The Trousseau Room, the Gold Room, the Cocktail room, and do peek into the Bridal Salon (even though you may not be a bride-to-be, the rooms are enchanting. I know you'll love seeing them!) Visiting Holland-Moritz will become your most cherished beauty secret!

Young girls have more to say about their clothes than ever before. This makes Mother's task a little more difficult, she must find fashions that please her daughter and the fine quality that is so important! I really have never seen a collection of well made clothes for girls to equal that at the Girl's Department of

THE NEW YORK STORE, High at Penn street. I happened to be shopping for birthday gifts, and Mrs. Shirley Weimer, the attractive and pleasant department manager, helped me find lovely Summer sportswear. She explained just "what is new" in styles so that I could be sure the girls would be happy with their gifts. I found handsome shorts and matching tops, an "angel top" in fine cotton with heavy Irish lace trim at sleeve and hem (Subtle sizes, at $3.98), and beautiful sleepwear! The sets of shorts with matching or contrasting top range in price from $2.95 to $10.95. I particularly like their array of "Junior High" dresses in a complete size and price range, in styles that are youthful yet sophisticated for the young teenager. The New York Store's quality is better, the prices are more fair, and they offer the many services a woman appreciates. Free parking, free gift wrapping, free delivery if you wish, a larger and nicer selection, and a choice of charge plans are yours when you shop at this lovely store. The New York Store HAS EVERYTHING IT REALLY PAYS TO SHOP THERE!

If your youngster has trouble with his or her handwriting, plan a course in typewriting! Surveys show that when a child learns to type their handwriting improves, too! First of all, they have time to write clearly because more work is done quickly with the typewriter. Second, they become used to seeing neat, printed words, and begin to write more carefully. A Teenage Typing course is offered by

THE POTTSTOWN BUSINESS SCHOOL, 313 High street, second floor. I believe there is still room in the classes for a few more students. There is no age limit but teenagers find Summer Typing worthwhile as fun. It does not interfere with Summer sports, (or Summer sleeping late!) as the class is from 10:30 until 12:30 a. m. There are 29 classes of 2 hours each, and the cost including material books and instruction is just $44. Plan to have your teenager take this six week course, and you will see his or her grades improve in school. The Pottstown Business School is delightfully air conditioned. Call FA 6-5798 or see Mr. Harold Bezel at the school for more information.

This is the season of June Graduates, and it's the ideal time to remind you of the importance of a college education. A young person can look forward to a lifetime of larger paychecks, a lifetime of pleasant working conditions, if he or she has a college education. And this cannot be something you simply "hope for." You must plan for it now by saving regularly! College is expensive, but if you have all or part of the money saved at

FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION, 21 North Hanover street, it will be possible for your child to have this opportunity. A college education cannot be measured in terms of money alone. The many rewards of college include meeting wonderful friends, learning to appreciate finer things, social activities such as dances and parties, enjoying or taking part in sports activities. Of course, the main purpose of attending college is to train for a career. If your child is of average or better than average intelligence, you owe him a chance for a higher education. Even though you only have part of the needed money, it's that all-important "start" that really counts. If a child starts college, he realizes the value of an education and will work during Summer, or hold a parttime job at the college to help pay the way through. First Federal Savings and Loan Association is the place where intelligent people start savings accounts. They add a 4% dividend to your balance twice a year! This extra high dividend helps to boost your account so that through the years your money earns more and your goal is reached more quickly. At First Federal your money is SAFE—it is insured by a part of the United States government for up to $10,000. If you are curious as to the costs of college, visit First Federal and get your free booklet concerning expenses to expect for the many colleges and universities in the country. They will also help you to plan a sensible budget, determined by how many years there are before your child reaches college age, how much money you will need, and what you can afford to save monthly! This "COLLEGE CLUB PLAN" really works. I'm using it and it's a wonderful guide to saving for my four children's education.

If You Are Just A LITTLE Overweight . . .

First . . . do you know if you are overweight or not and, if so, how much? What can be too heavy for one person can be normal for another, for it depends upon bone structure, heredity and even environment. Do not try to decide these matters for yourself nor pick a mass produced remedy to effect weight control. Instead, see your physician for a thorough checkup and let him decide on your course of action.

215 Graduates Receive Diplomas

Dr. Philip Lovejoy, In Address, Warns Against Selling America Short

More than 2000 people filled the Boyertown Area Senior High school gymnasium Tuesday night to see 215 graduates receive their diplomas at commencement exercises. The ceremonies began at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Philip Lovejoy, past president of Rotary International and noted educator, was the principal speaker. His topic was "Make Way for Tomorrow."

He stated, "You read a lot today about the United States' prestige going down. In 1957 when Sputnik went up our prestige started going down. We should stop selling ourselves short. Our ability to put men and monkeys into orbit may not be as great as some others but our prestige still depends upon what our forefathers did for freedom. Your education," he said, "cost over $1,000,000, besides the cost of the school building, but the dividend of the money invested in these 215 graduates."

Preceding the commencement march of the 215 graduates was a prelude of music by the Senior High school band, under the direction of Arlen R. Saylor.

The program began with invocation by the Rev. Edgar M. Cooper, pastor of New Hanover Lutheran church.

Opening remarks by Dr. Leon H. Farrin, supervising principal of Boyertown Area schools were followed with class greetings given by Emily G. Latshaw, an honor pupil of the class.

A special feature on the program was an organ solo "Arioso," played by Barbara L. Haddad, also an honor pupil.

PRESENTATION of diplomas was made by Harry I. Gilbert, Senior High school principal, after which the class song and alma mater were presented.

The program was concluded with the benediction by the Rev. Cooper.

Honor graduates of the class were: Sandra L. Buhay, Eleanor E. Clauser, Ronald L. Drumheller, Fred A. Grater, Barbara L. Haddad, Joyce B. Herb, Emily G. Latshaw, Louise A. Linneimer, Diane H. Sheridan, Robert L. Sitko, Joan K. Stanhardt, Lester C. Weiss, A. Weller and Norma F. Witman.

Councilman Requests New Vote On Street, Alley Construction

Councilman Clifford L. Losh presented a letter requesting a new vote on the street and alley construction plan at Boyertown borough council meeting.

According to his letter, Losh said it was justifiable that council saw fit to assess sewage equal to two mills tax without a reduction in millage due to the borough being in need of a new heavy duty truck and plow. His objection to the vote on alley construction at this time was that the cost would cut into a budget that could be put to better use.

Losh also stated in his letter that a proper street program for the construction of new streets and the reconstruction of old streets is so great that it demands foresight and planning to such a point that the construction of new alleys should not even be considered.

The councilman also objected to council considering the purchase of Toby's place, a luncheonette at the corner of Fourth street and North Reading avenue, the property of which was offered to the borough by its owner Norman Reinert, for $12,000. The property extends halfway across the street line and Reinert suggested that the borough purchase the property for eventual razing and opening the street to its entire width.

Losh pointed out in his letter that the $12,000 purchase would rupture the budget and all expenditures must be figured on a yearly basis. Therefore, in his opinion, it is merely good business to cut expenses somewhere else.

Losh also pointed out that in his opinion, the purchase of the backhoe for the tractor recently purchased was far more necessary than the alley construction.

Losh moved that alley work be eliminated in lieu of others costs. There was no second to the motion.

Saints 'Gifted' With 5-0 Triumph Over Lansdale Catholic

WHERE IS HE? — Lansdale Catholic Third Baseman Steve Goetter (right) has ball clutched in his glove, but is looking the wrong way as St. Pius X' Don Kalavik already has third base stolen in first inning of game at Memorial park. Kalavik's grounder had scored first two Pius runs. Saints won, 5-0.

KENRICK WINS PLAYOFF FOR LEAGUE TITLE

'Middle-of-Order' 3-0 Triumphs Seal Verdict

Bishop Kenrick's golfers captured five of the six matches on the card Tuesday afternoon, handing St. Pius X a 14-4 setback at North Hills country club.

The victory gave the Golden Knights the Suburban Catholic league championship after the two teams had run out their regular season slate with identical 5-1 logs.

Frank DiSanti, Mike McBrien and Bob Gallagher were the chief instruments of the Knights' victory surge, as they each took 3-0 victories over their Keim street opponents.

DiSanti turned in the day's medal score, a 77, to whip Gerry McGinley, the Saints' No. 3 golfer.

BOB KLEMAN had organized the Knights' victory parade with a 2-1 victory over Bob Smale, the Saints' top shotmaker, and McBrien followed by dealing little Mike Rowland the first 3-0 loss of the day.

DiSanti followed with his conquest of McGinley, and Gallagher, who fired an 80, topped Dave Psota for the third straight 3-0 cushion of the match.

The Saints' No. 5 and 6 players staged mild comebacks, collecting a tie and a win in the final two matches of the day, but the damage had already been done.

Dave Czarick halved his match with Jack Pergine, 1-1-1, and Tom Meade collected the Saints' only victory, 2-1 over Bob Vincetzo.

The Saints, who had made a strong run at the league title, wound up in second place.

They had held the lead through the bulk of the season, and were unbeaten until their final match with the Norristown unit, which ended in a close Kenrick victory at Plymouth country club.

The Point Spread...

By WARREN HOWARD
(Mercury Sports Writer)

NOW THAT ST. PIUS X HAS WON to earn a share of the Suburban Catholic league lead and yet another crack at Bishop Kenrick, it could throw a money wrench into the Steelers' American Legion debut tonight at Enterprise field. The Saints' season is still unfinished, and as the Steelers face Downingtown, they must do without the four St. Pius X players who are on the roster.

Another added feature of last week's Indianapolis "500" was that both Hoover Motor Express cars (one of which was driven to a seventh place finish by Bobby Marshman of Sanatoga) were equipped with two-way radios. And while the radio setup has been tried in auto racing before, it was the first time that one was still working at the end of the race. And it was in Marshman's car, since Don Branson, who drove the other Hoover, had left the race after one lap. It figures to start a trend in racing, since the 150-mph plus speeds at which the cars rocket down the straights at "Indy" make the old blackboard setup faulty at times, to say the least. Also, the pit crews wouldn't have to wait until a driver hit the straights to tell him that something was going wrong.

UMPIRES JOE ROSS AND Don Ronnie did a neat job of handling Tuesday's St. Pius X-Lansdale Catholic game, in the face of repeated petty arguments raised by the Crusaders' coach, who also let his players get into the act. A coach should exercise a wee mite better discipline, one thinks. One player, who was coaching at first base, even went so far as to inform Ross that he should check with the base umpire on a strike decision. This is totally uncalled for on the part of schoolboy athletes. This Saturday's upcoming George Fonder Memorial Midget auto race at the Hatfield speedway could produce one outstanding duel. Hatfield Head George Marshman is angling for Al Keller, the fifth-place finisher in the Indianapolis "500." Keller, if you recall, is the guy who kept flipping back and forth from fifth to eighth place, finally winding up fifth, pushing Bob Marshman—George's son—to seventh. If young Marshman has a mind to get even, a real hot duel could ensue. If things go according to form, the midget show should draw near-perfect weather.

DICK RICKETTS WAS ROCKER for three runs in the second inning Monday night, as he dropped his second game for the Buffalo Bisons, 5-3 to Columbus. Bill Scherfel, who organized the Ches-Mont Knee-Hi baseball league last year, figures that in another season only Chester county teams will be operating in the circuit. The Montgomery county units have already been felt out by leagues from Graterford and other areas, and as they (the areas) grow up, they organize their own leagues. The Ches-Mont circuit operated a year ago without some of the "niceties" of other leagues, one of which was "paid" umpiring.

THERE ARE APT TO BE SOME surprising developments when Conestoga and Conshohocken High schools kick the Ches-Mont league. The move is upcoming at the end of next season. Now that the Church league appears to be back on its footing again, Curly Ricketts is lamenting the fact that the Junior circuit has slumped in stature the last few years. It is his contention that the Junior league is in better condition for a rebuilding job on interest, and is setting out to do it. George Elchnor, who formerly coached football at Pottsgrove High, now handles track in addition to football at Parkland High school, a huge jointure in the Allentown area. The addition of Coatesville and West Chester to the Ches-Mont Legion league picture should make things a bit tougher for the Steelers, who are bidding for their fourth straight league title, as if Phoenixville didn't make the picture hot enough a year ago. But the Steelers' 18-player roster includes seven pitchers, making the mound picture brighter than any since the State tournament days of 1957.

LA Shades Bucs on Roseboro Hit 8-7

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Pinch hitter John Roseboro hit a ground rule double in a wild seventh inning that gave the Los Angeles Dodgers an 8-7 win over the Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday night before 15,784 in the Coliseum.

In the hectic seventh the Dodgers came up with three runs on four hits, an error and a wild pitch, and Pittsburgh lost relief pitcher Clem Labine and catcher Smokey Burgess in a lengthy ruckus with first base umpire Mel Steiner.

The row started when Tommy Davis of the Dodgers singled to right. Roberto Clemente lobbed the ball in to Dick Stuart and as Davis stepped off first, Stuart tagged him. The umpire called him out but just as quickly Stuart dropped the ball and Davis was declared safe.

with Bishop Kenrick of Norristown. The game was the Saints' regular-season windup.

The Saints mustered but four hits off a brace of Lansdale hurlers, but scored a pair of runs in the first inning without a hit, giving Winning Pitcher Tom Drabick all the cushion necessary.

Ken Stutz and Nick Petro waited out free tickets off Starter Tony Sandone, then worked a double steal while Butch Mar cheski was at the plate.

DON KALAVIK then hit a bouncer toward the hole between first and second base, and while Second Sacker Joe Pulli was kicking the ball around, both Stutz and Petro scored.

The Saints added a run in the fifth on a single by Denny Psota, who dashed into second base when the throw from Catcher Bob Turashinski headed for the open spaces, took third on a passed ball and scored when John Chenosky's fly ball to center was muffed by Fran Kennedy.

Errors also played a pair in the final two St. Pius runs, which came in the sixth inning.

Shortstop Al Rufe booted Kalavik's grounder to put the second baseman aboard, and he went to second on another awry heave from Turashinski, scoring when reliever Charles Prediger loosed a wild pitch off toss.

SKIP PETERMAN beat out an infield hit, moved along on a groundout and scored on Drabick's single, producing the only earned run of the game.

Drabick, however, was virtually airtight for the Saints, pitching three-hit ball. He walked but one while striking out nine.

He ran into trouble in the second inning, when he loaded the bases with nobody out, but retired the next three hitters to pitch out of the jam.

He issued back-to-back singles by Steve Goetter and Turashinski to open the frame, then hit Armand Aufferre with a pitched ball.

Pulli then lined out to first baseman Tom Koury, and Drabick fanned Gerry O'Brien and Sandone to end the threat.

Duke Maas, one of those caught in the expansion draft, was fortunate. He was returned to the Yankees in a deal for rookie shortstop Fritz Brackel.

Paoli School Asks In

Grigg Named Ches-Mont League Prexy

Morrell E. Grigg, athletic director at Pottstown High, was elected president of the Ches-Mont league during its June meeting at Whitford country club, Downingtown.

Grigg succeeds Samuel Evans of Downingtown, who is now head of District One, PIAA.

Walt Funk of Coatesville was elected vice president, and Cecil Jenkins of Phoenixville was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Coatesville High school was presented the league all-sports trophy, which it won with 19 points, beating out Pottstown High, which accumulated 13½.

COATESVILLE also picked up the track and field, relays and baseball trophies, and Conestoga received the golf championship award. Two pieces of business were introduced, and tabled until the September meeting.

The first was a request for admission to the league from the new Paoli Joint High school, and the other involved the baseball and triangular track meet schedules for next season.

Bill Crouse, veteran golf coach at Conestoga High, announced his retirement at the meet, attended by 145 persons.

Demeter, Dalrymple Drive In Five Apiece as Phils Slug Giants 13-9

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Don Demeter and Clay Dalrymple each drove in five runs Tuesday night, helping Philadelphia clobber San Francisco 13-9.

The Giants came up with five runs in the ninth inning but left a total of eight runners on base in the game.

It was the last-place Phils' third straight victory and fourth in their last five games. The Giants have lost eight of their last 10.

Demeter drove in three runs with a first inning double and two more with his third home run. Dalrymple had a double, a single and a three-run homer, also his third.

Dallas Green relieved Philadelphia starter Frank Sullivan after the Giants scored three first inning runs. Green picked up the victory, but Ken Lehman had to come in for the final out. Green now is 2-3 and both his wins have been at San Francisco.

Giant starter Billy O'Dell (1-3) was the loser. He gave up four runs and didn't survive the first inning. The Phils pounded Billy Loes and Eddie Fisher for the rest of their 12 hits. Jim Duffalo was the only Giant pitcher to escape punishment.

The Giants got 15 hits, too, but Green was helped by some spectacular fielding.

Ken Walters made a sensational leaping catch that robbed Willie McCovey of a three-run homer in the fifth inning. Bobby Del Greco made a spectacular over-the-shoulder catch on Charlie Hiller's 400-foot clout to center field with the bases loaded in the sixth. Shortstop Ruben Amaro made outstanding plays all night.

Len Zuberth fanned 13 and pitched four-hit ball to gain the victory, his only trouble coming in the third inning, when Jones and Paul Bodor drove in the two Coventryville runs.

Larry Beidler came on to quell the rally, but only after the winners had successfully put the game on ice.

Lions Nip Norco In C-M Knee-Hi Opening Contest

The Pottsgrove Lions pushed across a run in the bottom of the seventh inning Tuesday night, shading the Norco Wildcats, 1-0 in a Ches-Mont Knee-Hi league tilt at Sanatoga.

Elsewhere in the league, the Pottsgrove Optimists stood off a late Limerick rally for an 11-0 win, and South Coventry-Warwick bombed East Coventry, 19-4.

The Lions' run at Sanatoga came at the expense of Scotty Ryznar and spoiled a tight mound duel between Ryznar and Paul Favinger of the Lions.

Ryznar, who allowed three hits, passed five and hit three Lions with pitched balls.

Don Strock led South Coventry's luster attack with four hits in as many trips, while Gary Detwiler went the route on the mound.

By BENNETT CERF

Le GALLIDAUT, a meek, undersized Parisian sculptor, had never fashioned anything longer than a woman's hand, so everybody was mildly surprised when he turned out nothing less than an elephant in marble.

"But Le Gallidaut," marveled his oldest friend, "how could you sculpt such a perfect likeness without a model?"

"There was nothing to it," explained Le Gallidaut airily. "I simply chipped off every piece that didn't look like an elephant."

A police captain, regarded as something of an egg-head by subordinates, was shown two sets of fingerprints of a suspected robber. "These can't belong to the same man," objected the captain. "Why, they're whorls apart."

Since the discovery of elastic," reckons Dr. Mortimer Rodgers, "women take up one third less space."

of mankind that man has always been trying the impossible, and finding that impossible tasks can be done. Napoleon said the world impossible does not belong in the French language. The fact is it does not belong in any language.

POINTING TO the accomplishments of modern man, the Methodist clergyman reminded his audience of the feat of Air Force Capt. Howard Mitchell, the pilot who succeeding in capturing the payload from Discoverer XIV. "When Captain Mitchell succeeded, after two failures in catching the payload in mid-air, he made of John Donne a liar."

Hitting at the current racial problems in the world, Dr. Wertz said, "They have been telling you—indeed they have already told you—that the races of man will never live peacefully under the sun. We are not doing a good job. My generation has not done a good job. But yours can, and yours better, because if you do not, there is very little to live for."

"By all means, go and catch a falling star. The star you catch may be the one on which we live."

After the main address, Howard A. Michener, supervising principal, awarded diplomas to the graduates. Seven pupils were honored for academic achievement: Vanda M. Boyer, Sharon Lee Acker, Judith I. Seragely, Mary Ellen Miller, Harry R. White, Nancy Caroline Buchholtz, and Patricia M. White.

Six Teenagers Are Hurt In Crash

in fair condition in Pottstown hospital late Tuesday.

Maria and Sally Ann Renninger were resting at home after treatment and release.

MOST SERIOUSLY injured was attractive, brunette Bonnie Jean. The ninth grader at Boyertown Area Junior High School gave this account of the near fatal accident late Tuesday morning.

"Jean Renninger, the driver, called Monday evening and said she wanted to get to work at Boyertown Burial casket company early the next morning."

Her head swathed in bandages, Bonnie Jean said she and her brother, a Seventh grader at the school, were picked up at their house shortly after 7:30 o'clock.

"We were all kind of nervous about final examinations at school, so we didn't talk very much," she recalled.

Three of the Renninger girls also attend Boyertown Area Junior Senior High School. Sarah is a Junior, while Maria is an Eighth grader and Sally Ann a Ninth grader.

The last thing Bonnie Jean recalled her mother saying as they pulled out of their driveway in the compact sedan was, "be careful. You won't be late."

"We took back roads toward the school so we wouldn't get stuck behind the school buses on Route 73," Bonnie Jean said.

"None of us knew the road very well. We always took Route 73. That's a better road. It's much straighter, but there's too much traffic."

Between Bonnie Jean and the driver, Jean, in the front seat sat William Moyer. The others were in the back seat.

SHORTLY BEFORE 8 o'clock, the car approached a windy, barren stretch of Old Route 73 near its intersection with the Wiestown road, about one mile east of Shanesville.

"I guess Jean didn't see the curve up ahead. We missed it, and then Jean started to slam on the brakes."

Bonnie Jean said the car spun around completely and slammed head-on against the utility pole. She was thrown against the windshield.

Jean Renninger was thrown against the steering wheel. It broke under the impact.

William's head bounced against the dashboard. His nose was broken in several places.

A passerby phoned the Boyertown community ambulance, which took the six youngsters to Pottstown hospital.

As a result of the ill-fated shortcut, they received the following injuries:

Maria Renninger, cuts of the nose and face. She was saved when her head hit the back of the front seat.

Sally Ann Renninger, bruise burns of both legs, bruises of the left leg and cuts and bruises of the face and scalp.

Sarah Renninger, cerebral concussions and bruise burns of both legs;

bruise burns of both legs; Jean Renninger, cuts and bruises of the chest with possible rib fractures;

William Moyer, broken nose and bruises of the face and head; and Bonnie Jean Moyer, multiple cuts of face, scalp and left knee.

Continuing investigation of the accident today were State troopers of the Reading barracks. The almost new car was a total wreck.

UNION TACTICS ARE BLASTED BY SPEAKER

Firestone and Malcolm A. Schweiker, the father of Congressman Richard S. Schweiker—for their service and leadership in youth work.

THE INDUSTRIALISTS were honored by the Boy Scouts of America in a special program. "Salute to the Leaders of Industry." The scouts presented a series of tableaux depicting the history and contribution of the Boy Scouts in America.

Schmidt was principal speaker.

"If you read union papers which I would not recommend, for they are a waste of time—you would be disgusted at their attempt to make divinities of their leaders," Schmidt said.

"They don't open their pages to opposition," he concluded. "There is none—according to them! Do you think a member in the United Mine Workers would have dared speak out when John L. Lewis was at the helm?"

"Some of the unions' choicest pieces of violence are reserved for their own members," Schmidt went on. "Several dissenters in the union at Magnavox corporation had their houses dynamited because they disagreed with the union."

"The one-party shop is the destruction of liberty," he declared.

ALTHOUGH Schmidt slashed at unions, including the Teamsters, his rancor was not limited to the rank and file. He sliced into the "power plays" which often existed between labor and management.

"Originally manufacturers were using workers only as tools," he said. "Unions arose as a protest against the abuse of human beings."

"But now, power politics which exist between the two have desecrated our world and our time."

In returning to unions, Schmidt said:

"The union presses are filled with socialist doctrine. They preach a doctrine of class hatred—between the boss and the worker."

"The unions talk about unemployment, but they do everything possible to destroy the only source of employment—the employer."

CONTINUING, he stated: "The unions promote mediocrity. No one worker is allowed to do better than another—for fear of showing someone up."

Schmidt gave caustic and biting evaluation to government agencies and doctrines as well as those of unions and industry. Some of his comments were:

"The United Nations—that glorified debating society—arrives at judgments which mean nothing."

"Unions are founded on the cult of the leader"—as Hitler's Germany was. They give accolade to the demagogue."

"Collective bargaining usually is nothing more than endless palaver."

"Union and management agreements don't mean a thing unless they are backed by integrity."

"The public often has been fooled by artful phrases which mean nothing—like Roosevelt's Four Freedoms. The public seems to have an endless capacity to endure hypocritical betrayal."

"The Summit meeting—people think something is bound to come of it if they talk long enough."

EARLIER in the evening, Firestone and Schweiker were presented with two silver bowls by the Manufacturers' association for their work with youth.

Schweiker's son, Congressman Richard S. Schweiker, was scheduled to speak at the meeting but informed president H. Thomas Hallowell he could not attend because of a late session on an agriculture bill.

In a short address, Hallowell noted that Montgomery county manufacturers had the lowest accident rate in the county.

NEW OFFICERS of the manufacturers' association for the coming year are:

Hallowell, Standard Pressed Steel company, Jenkintown, president; H. W. Bartholomew, Doehler Jarvis, first vice president; A. A. Garthwaite Jr., Lee Tire and Rubber company, Conshohocken, second vice president; John S. Carter, Norris-town Water company, treasurer, and Walter A. Knerr, executive secretary and assistant treasurer.

Outstanding guests at the dinner meeting were: Paul B. Dague, congressman of Chester county; Henry J. Probert, State senator, Montgomery county; John H. Ware 3d, State senator, Chester county; Elkins Wetherill, president of commissioners, Montgomery county; Harold W. Spencer, district attorney, Montgomery county, and numerous assemblymen, judges, members of chambers of commerce and outstanding students.

In addition to leaders of industry other local figures who attended were:

A. Ralph Thomas, president of Greater Pottstown Area Chamber of Commerce; Harvard Fosholt, superintendent of Pottstown School district, and Edward T. Hall, headmaster of The Hill school.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Harper spent an evening with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Harper and family, Salfordville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Hershey, Harleysville RD. were entertained at a lobster and covered dish supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Pederson, Salfordville.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL executive meeting was held in the church basement of Christ Lutheran church. Plans were made for the daily vacation Bible school to be conducted from June 19 to June 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanton Landis and son, Scott, called on Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gilbert and family, Sixth street, Red Hill.

New GOP Chairman Expresses Optimism
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. William E. Miller of New York, the new Republican national chairman, told the party headquarters staff in a pep talk Tuesday the only reason for the national committee's existence is to win elections.
Miller said he does not see any reason for pessimism, that the party is in a strong position, and should win in 1962 and 1964. Party contributors he added, want better government and more Republicans in office.
It was Miller's first meeting with the committee staff since his election as national chairman last Friday.

Gay Blade Khrushchev Dances With Sukarno

MOSCOW (AP) — Swaying to a cha-cha beat, Premier Khrushchev danced hand in hand with President Sukarno Tuesday night at the gayest party seen in Moscow for a half dozen years.

It was to celebrate the Indonesian leader's 60th birthday, and before you knew it the music was going "Indonesia is free, cha cha cha." And the Soviet premier, six years Sukarno's senior, was out there tripping it up with him.

Khrushchev, just back from his Vienna talks with President Kennedy, appeared carefree and completely relaxed.

Sukarno, who ordinarily prefers the traditional dances of his island nation, was a buoyant host. The party was held at the Indonesian Embassy. Sukarno had arrived Monday — in a chartered American plane.

The official party was out on the lawn when the band struck up dance tunes.

Khrushchev pushed President Leonid I. Brezhnev and First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan up from a card table at which they were drinking orange juice, and the two began a Caucasian folk dance called the lez ginka.

Brezhnev played the girl's part, holding his white linen handkerchief over his head in the traditional gesture.

Scores of diplomats and prominent Soviet guests kept time to the music with rhythmic hand-clapping.

Khrushchev grabbed Sukarno's marshal's baton from him and conducted the orchestra.

When Brezhnev and Mikoyan were exhausted and sat down, Sukarno stood up and took Nina Khrushchev by the hand. He said a few words in Indonesian to the leader of his own band, and they broke into "Indonesia is free, cha cha cha."

Mrs. Khrushchev, wearing a black and gold brocade dress, danced a bit, then smilingly begged off and sat down.

Sukarno began choosing partners from the crowd. Mikoyan and Brezhnev found girls and began dancing too.

They formed a dance circle. Sukarno went over and brought Khrushchev in to dance with them.

Among other steps, the Soviet premier did the one which involved bending as in the cossack dance and kicking out his legs.

Among the guests also dancing was Prince Souvanna Phouma of Laos who is here on his way to a conference in Geneva.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko stood by watching, staid as usual.

This marked the gayest occasion here since Khrushchev quieted down from the days back in 1955 and 1956 when he was the life of every party.

Not a word of politics was spoken.

The conversation was almost all jokes.

For instance, when Mikoyan was dancing the Caucasian dance, Khrushchev commented: "You know, we had a meeting of the Central Committee about this, and the only reason Mikoyan is allowed to hold his job is because he can dance this dance."

Toward the end Sukarno and the other members of the party were kissed by pretty Indonesian girls.

Sukarno said he wanted to kiss a pretty Russian girl, but there was none sitting with the official group.

Mrs. Khrushchev volunteered to get him one. She got up from her chair and went into the crowd and picked a girl who was standing next to this reporter.

"Are you a Russian?" she said. "Yes," the girl said.

Mrs. Khrushchev told her: "Come and kiss President Sukarno."

The girl said she didn't want to. Her husband was standing next to her. He said he didn't want her to, either.

Then Mrs. Khrushchev said: "Oh please come. You only have to kiss him once, not twice."

So the girl went and got her kiss.

At this point the party broke up, an hour later than scheduled.

Four-Leaf Clover Tradition Is Upset

DARTMOUTH, Nova Scotia (AP)—Mrs. Stephen Hayes found a four-leaf clover in her lawn Monday. A few minutes later her husband's parked car was struck by another vehicle, causing damage estimated at $500. Tuesday a five-ton truck loaded with cement rolled over and demolished the Hayes' picket fence.

Wants Millions

The attorney for Diana Cullom Davis (above), 22 year old New York socialite who refused her father's request to sign away a $3.8 million trust fund to Princeton university, has threatened to go to court to obtain possession of the fund. She is the daughter of Shelby Cullom Davis, who built the fortune from $4000 invested when she was born.
